

Michael graduated from Algonquin College in 1988 in Computer Programming and later studied Computer Mathematics at Carleton University from 1989-1993. He further on received his Construction Leadership & Supervision certification from Algonquin College in 2012.

Michael has been in the Construction industry for over 25 years and has extensive experience delivering many residential, commercial, and infrastructure projects in several provinces. This real-world experience has provided Michael with the background necessary to manage the growth and development of current and new business ventures.

Michael currently serves as CEO of Green Eagle Developments, overseeing the planning, costing as well as working with design teams and product market strategy groups.

Michael was awarded "Young Entrepreneur of the Year" in 1996 by Paula Marois, then Minister of Industry and Technology in the province of Quebec. This award resulted from Michael's pioneering work with SAGE (MRC de Haute St. Laurent, Quebec) in the recycling industry.
